

Günter Vollmer

Is University Professor for Molecular Cell Physiology & Endocrinology and Head of the Department of Molecular Cell Physiology and Endocrinology at the Institute for Zoology, TU-Dresden University, Germany. The main focus of his laboratory is (patho)physiology of male and female sex steroid hormone with a particular emphasis on the efficacy and safety phytoestrogens in human applications.